

Like most people in La Pelota, El Salvador, Irma Morales does not own her land. Instead, she must rent it from land owners who are constantly trying to drive her and her family from their home. Irma, her husband and their three children live on just $35 a week. With desert-like conditions in some parts of El Salvador, growing crops and earning an income was difficult for Irma and her family.

The key to improving Irma's life came by way of a rooster, which she received through a local Lutheran World Relief (LWR) project.

Now with more chickens, Irma gets more fresh eggs and meat to supplement her family's diet. She also sells her extra eggs and some of her chickens. The additional food and income allow Irma and her husband to save money to improve their living conditions, so someday they might be able to build a home on their own land.

With one rooster and a lot of determination, Irma looks forward to the day when she can have a strong, sturdy home of her own. In the meantime, Irma is proud that she can now support a healthy family.

Giving Hens and Chicks is just one way we "give good" to our brothers and sisters overseas with LWR Gifts.
